

Broadstairs Reminiscences

Listen to the first part of the podcast (2 minutes 18 secs) and fill in the gaps with the missing words.

So Philip, have you lived in Broadstairs all your _____?
No, not all my life. [um] I've known Broadstairs _____ I was very small because I used to come _____ on holiday with my mum and dad. My aunt _____ uncle had a guesthouse in Gladstone Road. But actually _____ moved here when I was about eight er and I've _____ here ever since. You obviously enjoy living here, so _____ do you like doing in your spare time in Broadstairs.

Oh yeah, I know. I love Broadstairs – I think it's a _____ place and well when I get some spare time I _____ going by the sea, definitely going for walks along the _____ when the tide's out – I've got a dog so _____ to do quite a lot of walking with her _____ um I like really getting involved in some of the _____ happening in the town. There's so much going on _____ here. Erm one thing I particularly like is er erm is the is the _____ scene. I love music and er - of all sorts - and _____ quite a lot happening in the local pubs, especially _____ the second half of the week when er there's some _____ live music going on – I really enjoy that.

Mmm, yes, I agree with you

What about – what about you, Sue? How far do you go back in Broadstairs?

Er well, rather similar to you really. Erm I was _____ in London but er my parents moved down here _____ I was twelve years old so I went to _____ to a local girls' grammar school and then I left the _____, I lived in many different places in Britain and _____ and came back here in 1985 when I started _____ at the er Kent School of English, so I've been _____ in Broadstairs for a long time as well

Ah well of course (course) I should have _____ that I haven't actually worked here for that long. _____ I've always lived here, in fact most of my _____ life I spent commuting to and from London erm every _____ erm but there we are, I've been working at the _____ School now for five years and er I must say _____ enjoying it a lot more now that I have _____ time to spend around the place.

Click on the key to download the answers

Kent School of English